Brice Prepared to Refute Thomas' Latest Story.

HOW HE SIGNED A BOND.

in Ohio for Years.

A BUCKEYE'S INSIDE REVELATIONS

A prominent Ohio Democrat came to the city yesterday and was found at one of the hotels last evening. He is recognized as one of the best posted men on inside matters in that State, but for good private reasons he would not consent to the use of his name at this juncture. The gentleman was recognised as a close friend to Mr. Brice, and for that reason he was asked :

What is there in the charge made by Mr. Thomas that Mr. Brice, in becoming surety on a bond in New York six months ago, swore that he was a resident of New York City?" "The story," he replied, "is utterly false and unfounded. Mr. Brice and his close friends have for at least three weeks known that Mr. Thomas was insinuating things about that bond affair, and, that it would be sprung in the campaign. Knowing that, Mr. Brice prepared himself for it, and affidavits of all the parties concerned in the bonds transaction will be furnished to the press within the next few days. The that they ever raised the question.

HE SIGNED A BOND. "It is a fact that Mr. Brice did sign a bond before the Aqueduct Board in New York, but Mr. Brice raised the question of residence himself at that time, saying that he was a resident of Ohio. Thereupon the president of the board asked him if he was a freeholder on Manhattan Island. He replied in the affirmative. In such a case it under the law, discretionary with the board either to accept or reject. Being a man well-known in the financial world, he was accepted as a bondsman.

"Mr. Brice is a man of honor, an upright citizen, a worthy Democrat, and one who would not, even for the United States Senatorship, by any act of his cast a reflection upon the party by becoming a candidate for a position for which he was not, under the law, perfectly eligible."

"What is there in the assertion that he has not voted in Ohio at the last two elec-

"That is a fact, but there were very good reasons for his not doing so. At the same time, I may say that on both occasions he was paired with a prominent Republican in Lima. The reason that he was not at home to vote at the Presidental election in 1888 was that, as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, he was compelled to remain in New York to look after the interests of the party in that contest. On the occasion of the election last month, when Mr. Campbell was elected Governor, Mr.

for equally good reasons. The administra-tion and Mr. Quay decided to make a hard fight in the State of Virginia for the pur-pose of electing Mabone and breaking the Solid South. Mr. Brice and the committee of which he has the honor to be the Chairman discovered that such a fight was being inaugurated, and recognizing the importance ing that attempt, they resolved to give assistance and advice to the Democracy of Virginia, with the intention of making the result so emphatic that Mahoneism would the good of the party at heart.
"It is very generally known that during duties in the East, he caused hundreds and hundreds of letters to be written to personal lends and active working Democrats in the State, urging upon them the necessity of getting out the full Democratic vote, saying that if they did so victory would be assured. The wisdom of that advice was shown by the result."

WHAT CAUSED THE REVOLT. What is there in the alleged revolt in "A few well-meaning people have been dragged into it by misrepresentations. The movement has been attempted by a few disappointed, disgruntled, alleged reformers, who see no good in any movement or in the candidatev of any man unless they themselves lead it. For instance, the leader of the movement in Columbus, H. J. Booth, has never rendered services to the party which would entitle him to be referred to as a party leader. I notice that Martin A. heads the Cleveland movement. Contrast the actions and work of that gentleman, who did nothing for success in the last campaign, with what was done by Mr.

What will be the outcome?" "The result will be the election and indorsement of Mr. Brice. Ohio will have one of the liveliest, hardest working, most conscientious of Senstors that she has had for years, and the Democratic party will realize that a man is at the helm who has many of his characteristics, and who, in the details of party organization, will not suffer by comparison with their late hon-ored leader, Samuel J. Tilden."

THE FEDERATION AND KNIGHTS. A Complication May Ensue From That

Resolution-Trades Unionists Must Give Up Their Local Assemblies. "I have not yet seen in the Pittsburg pa pers," said Mr. A. B. Smythe, delegate to Boston from the Marble and Slate Workers' Union, yesterday, "any reference to a very important series of resolutions adopted by the Boston convention, defining the future attitude of the Federation toward the Knights of Labor. You may remember Explanation of His Failure to Vote of Labor should discountenance and revoke the charters of all trades assemblies and districts within their order, and that in turn the Federation and trades unions affiliated to it would urge their members, and all working poople at large, to become members of mixed assemblies of the Knights of "The meaning of this," continued Mr. Smythe," "is that members of a trade having a national or international union, and who are members of a local assembly of their trade of the Knights of Labor, will be obliged to surrender their charter for such separate organization and join their trades

"They can continue, however, as Knights of Labor by joining a mixed assembly, but the idea of a separate organization of a craft distinct from its national trades union will not be allowed to continue. This decision of the convention will not make itself felt mmediately in a marked manner, but I may tell you that in one trade a small-sized strike will be initiated to-morrow on this very principle.

"It will come to this that, taking for example the building trade, members of any craft working on the build-ing, who belong to the trades union, will not accept the cards of brother crafts-men, nor work with them, while outside of the union. Should there be a preponder-ance of K. of L. craftsmen on the building facts thus shown will be so convincing that it may happen that a tussle in support of Mr. Thomas and his friends will be sorry the principle may ensue, but I think that it can be made so plainly to the advantage of every workman, whose trade has a national every workman, whose trade has a national organization, to support it instead of branch organizations, that he will associate with his trades union without any trouble."

Referring to the 2 cent per capita assessment, Mr. Smythe said that it was in support of a fund to assist any trade that should be selected to demand the eight-hour work day. The Executive Board has power to continue the assessment for a year, when it is estimated, on a basis of $1 04 from each member, the sum of $700,000 will have been member, the sum of $700,000 will have been accumulated. The weakest trade will be selected, and it will probably be from among the building trades.

"The Federation," said Mr. Smythe, "can order any trade to adopt any working hours it may see fit—that is a matter for its and the said of the sa own decision—but it will help with its funds any trade that may find it necessary to go on a strike in support of the principle.
While the carpenters are in favor of the eight-hour day, the painters would prefer to work nine hours and get more wages."

Father Sheedy's New School Almost Rendy to be Opened.

Rev. Father Sheedy, pastor of St. Mary of Mercy Church, has almost completed the programme for the opening of his new parochial school on Penn avenue. The date of the opening has been made February 22-Washington's birthday. It was expected that it would be ready for this ceremony before the holidays, but owing to the work being delayed, the opening was postponed until the date mentioned above.

The finishing touches are now being put on the interior of the building. Everything has been completed except the fancy work. The structure will be wired for inandescent electric lights and gas fixtures will also be put in. The building, which is 216 Penn avenue and will be able to accom-

THAT NEW BANK.

The Proposed National in Lawrenceville Seems to be a Certainty.

The subject for discussion in Lawrenceville yesterday was the establishment of the proposed national bank. The organization of such a bank is already assured. The prime movers, it is said, have each taken 100 shares of the capital stock. The incorporation of the Arsenal Bank with the new one is also said to be almost a ertainty. No official action by the Board of Directors of that institution has been taken. The proposal has been made to some of them indirectly, and no opposition has been manifested. The Arsenal Bank has a capital stock of $55,000 and a surplus of

The two Inter gentlemen had re-tired to rest, but Mr. Adams and Mr. Lawler accorded THE DISPATCH representative a few minutes' conversation. To a question to the measures most likely to brought up in the early stages the session Mr. Lawler said:

"Well, the fact is we are all so intent on working for the World's Fair that really we have not had time to think of anything else. The tariff, of course, will receive early consideration, and the marine and the silver questions will follow in due course. As to how the Republicans will treat the tariff question I am unable to say, but I expect we Democrats will have to turn in and give them a hand. I am pretty nearly satisfied that we will have the Fair. The committee has been doing excellent work, and after comparing notes with my colleagues I have every reason to believe we shall be successful. There are other interests at work for

St. Louis and Washington, but I think that we have no reason to fear any rivalry. When you come to consider it, there is no other place so suitable for an Exposition of such magnitude as Chicago. And should Congress decide upon Chicago, additional hotels would soon be erected. There are 25 different trunk lines terminating in Chicago; 850 trains arrive and depart daily from the various depots, carrying 125,000 people every 24 hours. The parks extend over 60 miles and have an area of the 2600 area. There are 1,336 miles of over 2,000 acres. There are 1,386 miles of streets, 400 miles of which are paved. There are 50 miles of cable car lines and 587 miles of street railways; 1,200 miles of sidewalk, and every year sees 54 miles being completed. stronger. When the message was explained to the Chief that as originally intended it means a caution to Postmaster James S. McKean not to appoint Hon. William J. AGAINST MORMON CITIZENS.

Rev. McAllister Coincides With the Views of Judge Anderson. Rev. David McAllister preached at the Eighth Street Church yesterday afternoon, on the recent decision by Judge Anderson, in the United States Circuit Court of Utah, refusing to admit to citisenship alien Mormons, on the ground that their Mormon obligation made them enemies to the Government of the United States. The preacher heartily indorsed the ruling. and declared his belief that its affirmation by the Supreme Court would go very far to aid in the extirpation of Mormonism. The address was mainly fistorical and critical He explained the nature of the case which came before Judge Anderson. There were against the application for naturalization 14 witnesses who had been Mormons. They revealed its secrets on the witness stand and explained the oaths of confirmation. The Mormon Church claims the right to exercise civil power on earth, and its teaching is that when Jesus comes again that power will be exercised. It declares the Govern-ment of the United States to be an agent of antichrist, the enemy of the Church. Rev. Mr. McAllister, at some length, reviewed Mormon doctrines and practices, with the view of fully justifying Judge Anders

Work at Duquesne.

Three distinguished gentlemen from Charleroi, Belgium, alighted from the mail last evening, and proceeded to make diligent inquiries for a presumably equally distinguished gentleman from Duquesne, who was to meet them, but he did not turn up. Here was a quandary. The distinguished toreigners knew naught of any other lingo but their own native French, and as there was no interpreter of the language about, they occupied an isolated and bundle surrounded position in the vestibule for a considerable period. At the time no record was taken, but when a DISPATCH reporter came along he found a German wrestling with them in the hope of extracting something to serve as a clew to their destiny. It turned out that they were glassblowers who had been in-vited to come to this country by a relative of one of them who works at Duquesne. They were emphatic that they had come on their own resources and the letter of invitation, and without any suspicions of this country having a contract labor law on its statutes. They finally contracted with a neighboring Italian for refuge for the night, and purpose going on to Duquesne this

She said she had suffered for some time from asthma and cancer in the breast, the evidence in the latter case being conclusive, as her whole right breast was eaten away, and the sore looked inflamed and angry.

TURNED FROM THE HOSPITAL. She said she had gone to Mercy Hospital some time ago, but had been dismissed last week for no cause that she knew. She had found a lodging with an Irish family on the hill, near Wylie avenue, and having some decent clothes in a bundle, entrusted them decent clothes in a bundle, entrusted them to the man of the house to pawn for her to pay her expenses. This he did, but got drunk on the proceeds, and returning to the house, forced the woman to go out and beg for money from some of the charitable institutions. She went out, she said, and got a dollar down town from a charitable person, but fell in the street from clear exhaustion as the asthma was so bad that she could not breathe, and although she had not tasted anything intoxicating, was arrested as drunk. This was a mistake on her part, as the charge on the docket against her was vagrancy. Warden Berlin said yesterday that such cases should never be sent to jail, as it could not be regarded as a general hospital. "The woman was dying when she came," said he, "and although we did the best we could for her, she could not be expected to survive."

THE HOSPITAL SIDE. A visit to Mercy Hospital last evening revealed a very peculiar state of affairs with regard to the unfortunate woman, of whom the good Sisters spoke most kindly and feel-ingly. It appears that she made her home with a family on Sheffield street until about four months ago, when a former accidental injury developed the caneer in her breast. She became despondent and was taken to the West Penn Hospital, where it was decided necessary to perform an operation. As this was to be conducted at a regular clinic the woman objected, and the idea pervaded her mind, already wandering, that pervaded her mind, already wandering, that she was to be made a public exhibition of, and this she would not permit.

As a charity patient, she was turned over to Mercy Hospital for the operation, which had now become absolutely necessary. It was successfully performed by Dr. Conway, Jr., who would have conducted it had it

Dr. Conway said that the woman was doing very well, and healing nicely, but have mind was still affected, notwithstanding which she was advanced to the conve lescent stage.

CHARITY RED TAPE. The Sister here continued that it was impossible to keep the woman in justice to the other patients. She had to be kept in restraint, and would beat at the door of her room and scream all night, disturbing many who were in a very critical condition.

Applications were made to Chief Elliot, of the Department of Charities, and other charitable sources to take charge of her and relieve the other sufferers in the hospital where she had been treated and kept gratuitously for three months. But there was some inscrutable legal process required which could not be followed by the Mercy Hospital authorities, and they were advised to return her to the family with which she lived, the head of which might assume the role of guardian and have her taken

This was done, one of the hospital attendants taking her back to find the door shut in her face by the mistress of the house. Thence she was taken to the pastor of St. John's parish, who secured her a temporary home, but a few days later she was re turned to the Mercy Hospital, from which she had already ran away once. They declined to risk the health, if not the lives, of other patients, for which the Sisters were held responsible by triends, and she left, the first they heard of her afterward being when questioned by THE DISPATCH re

"I cannot see," said the Sister in con-cluding, "that we have done any injustice to the poor creature, for whose misfortunes I feel sorry from the bottom of my heart, but we could not do otherwise, and this establishment, which receives no assistance from the State or city should certainly be relieved of such cases by the depart-ments or Board of Charities, which are organized for the care of public charges, which this woman undoubtedly was.

ONLY UNFORTUNATE. To the question as to whether the woman had a good reputation, the Sister replied that she undoubtedly had, and was unobjectionable except for the trouble she made through her disordered mind.

As the poor dead creature on the morgue

bier found at last that rest of which she found so little in life, the Catholic insignia, including medals and scapulars, Coroner McDowell said that Magistrate

Gripp had told him the woman's commit-ment to jail was the only course open, as the man who claimed to have shelter represented to him that he could not keep her any longer. She had to be placed some-where until her disposition could be settled In the meantime the demented, harmless woman solved the question both for law and charity, by going back to her Maker as the Light's Body Recovered.

Among those to be professed are Sister Eustache, known outside the convent and to the world as Miss Lilly Wilt, of Watson street. With her is Sister Josepha or Miss Sadie Melody, a former school teacher in the McCandless district. Sister Ricardo, another young novice, will also be professed the compating. It was stated that Sister another young novice, will also be professed at the same time. It was stated that Sister Ireneus, Miss Lizzie Dougherty, of Second avenue, daughter of Captain Dougherty, the well-known riverman, would also be professed on the 2d, but she will not be eligible for her final yows until September. line is greater than on the other two sec-tions. This latter is on account of the eight heavy curves between Oakland and East Liberty. Although the grades of the down-town sections are much steeper and Among those to be received is a Miss. Gutch, of Clarion, Pa. She will take the name of Sister Ida. The professions will take place in the morning and the receptions in the afternoon. The former is celebrated with a high mass by the Right Rev. brated with a high mass by the Right Rev. Bishop Phelan. Everything about the ceremony is of the deepest solemnity as the last vows, renouncing the world, are taken. The most impressive part is when the novice is covered with a black pall after prostrating herself on the floor and the death knell was tolled. The black veil and ring are given at the profession and the novice becomes a regular nun in the community. The reception which takes place in the afternoon is not so solemn. The postulantes are given the white veil and enter upon a period of probation.

Among those to be present at the profession are a sister of Miss Wilts and another nun in the convent at Wilkesbarre. The latter is known outside as Miss Rose charge of stealing a satchel at the Lake Erie depot on Saturday night.
